MAY IT NOT BE TRUE REFORM. In formulating tariff bills it is not so much Democratic enthusiasm we want as Democratic common sense.

It would seem that the true phase of the situation in the recent tariff struggle has dawned upon Mr. Cleveland as well as thousands of others who were disposed to look upon Mr. Gorman as standing in the way of true tariff reform. Mr. Gorman furnished the country with the only tariff law that was to be had at this Does any one suppose, after sober reflection, that it was either wise or practicable to jerk the McKinley bill out of root? The federal government in a moment of passion roused by the war pulled slavery out of root and the result was a of any kind. Besides there were, as you thoroughly impoverished people who by and I well know, incidents accompanyalmost super-human effort and characteristic American energy are only getting | tarlff-reformer unhappy, while influences on their feet, the country thus losing untold wealth and throwing on their own resources an ignorant and dependant race whose every tendency has been to-

A gradual abolition of slavery would have preserved to the South her industries and to-day the government, the people as a whole and her negro population in particular, would have been enjoying a condition incomparably better than is new presented.

"Carry out the pledges" was echoed and re echoed in all parts of the country. And the Republican party seeing the disasters which were likely to follow joined in the chorus. "All right," said war; who are not blinded to the fact that Mr. Gorman, "but don't let your enthusiasm get the better of your judgment. of Republican protection, and who have There are some things to be considered marked the places where the deadly in this work we have before us. It is not necessary to read between the lines of Mr. Cleveland's letter, which we publish elsewhere in this issue, to see that he is not in a despairing mood. Speaking of the Senate bill he says: "It will not only lighten many tariff burdens that now rest heavily upon the people. It is not only a barrier against the rea vantage ground from which must be waged further aggressive operations against protected monopoly and govern-

The political friends of Mr. Gorman do not object to an utterance of this kind. Every Democrat of sense and reason knows that his party is the irreconcileable foe of anything like McKinleyism, and now that the Senate bill has become remunerative employment of American a law there is but one common cause, namely, further tariff reform. THE SENATE BILL A LAW THE PRESIDENT REFUSES TO PUT HE

SIGNATURE TO IT,

The Bill Becomes a Law at Midnight Tues day-While Distasteful to Mr. Cleveland He is Willing That it Should Go Into Operation-The Occasion Calls Forth Letter from Mr. Cleveland. The agony is over concerning the Senate Tariff Bill. It is now the law of the land and all sincere Democrats are hopefully trusting that it is the entering wedge which shall eventually cleave apart the Republican obstruction which has stood in the away of American progress. It was not expected that Mr. Cleveland would endorse the bill, as it is inconsistent with all his utterances, especially the raw material feature of the bill. Mr. Cleveland, however, in his letter to Hon. T. C. Catchings, which we publish below, admits that the bill is 'a vast improvement to existing things" (meaning the McKinley bill). He furthermore says as repeated several times by THE TIMES that the Senate bill at least "furnishes a vantage ground from which must be waged further aggressive operations against protected nonopoly and governmental favoritism." THE LETTER.

EXECUTIVE MANSION, Washington, D. C., Aug. 27, 1891.—Hon. T. C. Catchings. -My Dear Sir: Since the conversation I had with you and Mr. Clark, of Alabama, a few day ago in regard to my action upon the tariff bill now before me I have given the subject further and most serious consideration. The result is, I am more settled than ever in the determination to allow the bill to be come a law without my signature. When the formulation of legislation which it was hoped would embody Democratic ideas of tariff reform was lately entered upon by the Congress nothing was further from my anticipation than a result which I could not promptly and enthusiastically indorse It is, therefore, with a teeling of the utmost disappointment that I submit to a denial of this privilege.

I do not claim to be better than the masses of my party, nor do I wish to avoid any responsibility which on account of the passage of this law I ought to bear as a member of the Democratic organization. Neither will I permit myself to be separated from my party to such an extent as might be implied by my veto of tariff legislation, which, though disappointing, is still chargeable to Democratic effort. But there are provisions in this bill which are not in line with honest tariff reform, and it contains inconsistencies and crudities which ought not to appear in tariff laws or laws Congress which made every surrounded it in its latter stages and interfered with its final construction which ought not to be recognized or tolerated in Democratic tatiff-reform And yet, notwithstanding all its vicissitudes and all the bad treatment it received at the hands of pretended friends, it presents a vast improvement to existing conditions. It will certainly lighten many tariff burdens that now rest heavily upon the people. It is not only a barrier, against the return of mad protection, but it furnishes a vantage ground from which must be waged further aggressive operations against protected monoply and governmental favoritism. I take my place with the rank and file of the Democratic party, who believe in tariff reform and who know what it is, who refuse to accept the results embodied in this bill as the close of the the livery of Democratic tariff reform has been stolen and worn in the service blight of treason has blasted the counsels of the brave in their hour of might.

I love the principles of true Democracy because they are founded on patriotism and upon justice and fairness to vatively sturdy and persistent in the enforcement of its principles. Therefore Such we believe are the motives which I do not despair of the efforts made by the House of Representatives to supplement the bill already passed by further legislation and to have engrafted upon it such modifications as will more nearly meet Democratic hopes and aspirations. I cannot be mistaken as to the necessity of free raw materials as the foundation of logical and sensible tariff reform. The extent to which this is recognized in the legislation already secured is one its encouraging and redceming features, but it is vexatious to recall that while free coal and iron ore have been denied us, a recent letter of the Secretary of the Treasury discloses the fact that both might have been made free by the annual surrender of only about $700,000 of unnecessary revenue. I am sure that there is a common habit of underestimating the importance turn of mad protection, but it furnishes of free raw materials in tariff legislation, and of regarding them as only related to concessions to be made to our manufacturers. The truth is, their influence is so far-reaching that if disregarded a complete and beneficent scheme of tariff reform cannot be successfully inaugurat-

It will thus be seen that free ray materials and a just and fearless regula tion and reduction of the tariff to meet the changed conditions would carry to every humble home in the land the blessings of increased comfort and cheaper iving.

A RATTLED EDITOR.

Brother Wirgman of The Progress seems to be considerably rattled at what we said last week about the Republicar county convention. The shoe must have pinched pretty hard. If he will take the troable to look over the files of the Progress while we had possession of the paper he will not find one word in favor of Protection written by us. We have always been opposed to tariff except for revenue purposes only. "Why don't he (THE TIMES) advocate straight out Democracy like his brother of the Democrati and say 'the people want freer trade and we are going to have it?" says The Brother Wirgman has certainly not carefully read THE TIMES. Have'nt we not said and reiterated that the new tariff bill is not in accordance with the pledges of the party but is a big stride toward further tariff reform?

Mr. Gorman declares that it is the best bill he could wring from the Senate and all good Democrats who are not prejudiced against Mr. Gorman through the influence of The Baltimore Sun are willing to accept this declaration. No, brother, this is our honest view notwithstanding your labored effort at misrepresentation. We were born a Democrat and because we published The Progress a little while in the interest of local questions it does not vitiate our Democ racy in the least.

When the editor of The Progress was sucking Republican milk and eating Republican pap we were advocating tariff reform and for a moment have never changed our views. The editor of The Progress like a good many other bitter Republicans is mad because the Democratic party did not choose at this time to wreck itself upon
